

THE JEFFERSON MINE SELLS FOR $350,000

Old Mine Near Round Mountain
Sells to Eastern Capitalists
Who Will Erect Big Plant at Once.

One of the biggest mining deals which has been made in southern Nevada for some time was consummated in this city Friday afternoon when W. H. McBeth, Charles Brennenman and J. Flick, all of New York, purchased the Charles Konrath mine—the old Jefferson mine—near Round Mountain, for a sum of $350,000. The deal has been closed, and this morning Messrs. Flick and Brennenman leave for San Francisco to close the final contract for a $75,000 milling plant, which will be erected. This plant is already picked out in fact, and the order to ship has been awaiting the closing of the purchase of the mine. The plant will be in operation by the first of February, and will have a capacity of 200 tons per day.

The Jefferson mine is one of the old mines of the Round Mountain district—six miles from that place—and for the past number of years it has been worked on rather a crude basis, only the high grade ore, of which there is considerable, being shipped out. The mining of the high-grade, however, has exposed vast quantities of low grade free milling ore, and there is enough of this blocked out to operate on for a number of years, it is stated. Expert opinion on the mine is that it will be one of the best low grade propositions in the state, with lots of high grade which will run the milling value of the ore up very materially on an average. The ore is gold and silver, running about three-fourths of the total value in the yellow mineral.

Messrs. McBeth, Brennenman and Flick will be with the property for some time, Mr. McBeth probably until the new mill is in operation. The deal is one of the best which has been made in a long time, and will be of inestimable value to the Round Mountain district, and to the whole of southern Nevada, showing the world, as it does, that Nevada has the mines, and that eastern capital is willing to back them, in spite of the recent financial depression, and the unsettled feeling always attendant upon election times.

DENVER GREET'S BRYAN

(By Associated Press.)
DENVER, Oct. 16.—William J. Bryan was a guest of this city for several hours tonight and was given a most cordial reception by the great crowds of people that lined the streets through which the candidate rode. En route Bryan halted thrice to address the crowds stationed at points along the line of march where it was arranged he should stop briefly to speak to overflow meetings.

At the Auditorium, where the Democratic nominee spoke, 14,000 people were assembled. As many more were compelled to content themselves outside with a glimpse of the candidate as he passed through the entrance way. One of the features of the parade was an effigy of an elephant, representing the Republican party, lying dead from the shafts of the Democratic assault, each spear being labeled with a Democratic argument, such as "Anti-publicity," "Ananias club," "Tariff revision," and others. Immediately after the meeting Bryan boarded a Burlington train for Omaha.

War Clouds Dissipating

(By Associated Press.)
SOFIA, Oct. 16.—Members of the Bulgarian cabinet, who yesterday accompanied Czar Ferdinand to his hunting lodge in the Rilo mountains, returned this afternoon and announced the result of their deliberations under the presidency of Ferdinand.

The cabinet decided to reject the proposal emanating from London for payment of an indemnity to Turkey as a condition of recognizing Bulgaria independence. The only question the government is willing to negotiate is the purchase of the rights of the Oriental railroad company.

A member of the cabinet tonight made the statement that there will be no mobilization of troops for the present, at least as long as Bulgaria was in a position to know that Turkish movements of troops on the frontier are purely local in character.

FLEET IN BIG STORM

(By Associated Press.)
TOKIO, Oct. 16.—The delay of the American fleet in arriving at Yokohama is due to a tremendous storm off the north coast of the island of Luzon in the Philippine group. The storm began on the morning of the twelfth and continued until the afternoon of the thirteenth.

William Fuller, a gunner's mate, was washed overboard from the quarter deck of the Rhode Island and drowned. These details were communicated to the Associated Press at Tokio by wireless from the battleship Connecticut, through the special courtesy of the Japanese government. The fleet will arrive at Yokohama at 9 o'clock Sunday morning.

A. Gladden, a seaman, was washed overboard from the Minnesota, but a well directed throw from the Vermont, next astern, placed a life buoy in his grasp, and he was rescued, the sea being too rough for lowering a boat. On October 15 Bendix Johnson, a gunner's mate on the Missouri, died of heart disease. He was buried at sea the next day, when the fleet stopped with colors half masted.

During the storm the ships were constantly taking seas aboard. The Virginia, New Jersey and Wisconsin each lost life boats and the foretop mast of the Kearsarge was carried away, but repairs were soon effected.
